Observance of World AIDS Day-2019 : #CommunitiesMakeTheDifference

The World AIDS Day (WAD) is observed on 1st December every year across the World to show commitment of the Government in order to strengthen HIV/AIDS response and providing care & treatment to those infected and affected by HIV & AIDS. WAD brings an opportunity for people to unite worldwide in the fight against HIV, show their support for people living with HIV and to commemorate people who have lost their lives in the battle. On WAD, awareness activities are conducted at ground level by State AIDS Control Societies involving Communities, NGOs, Civil Societies, Youth and many others. At national level, National AIDS Control Organization, an apex body of Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Govt, organizes a mega event.

NACO conducted an event at Kedarnath Sahni

Auditorium, New Delhi on the theme: Communities Make the Difference, Hon'ble HFM, Dr. Harsh Vardhan graced the observance. The event marked presence of around 2,000 participants from civil society organizations, members from central government hospitals, community members, CISF personnel, students from schools and colleges, volunteers from NYKS, PLHIV representatives from NGOs, bilateral and multilateral development partners and officials from different government departments. Dr. Arun Kumar Panda, Secretary (MSME) & Secretary (in-charge), Health & Family Welfare, Sh. Sanjeeva Kumar, Special Secretary & Director General, NACO & RNTCP, Sh. Alok Saxena, Joint Secretary NACO, Dr. Bilali Camara, Country Coordinator, UNAIDS and Dr. Henk Bekedam, WHO Representative (India) were present at the event.

“One of the unique quests is adaptability and customization of strategies according to the need of the hour. NACO has revived and revamped its conventional prevention strategies to achieve the new targets. NACO is focusing on the combination of prevention tools and methods that are needed to end the AIDS epidemic. And during these activities, NACO is keeping communities at the centre that gives uniqueness to the AIDS Control Programme in India”

The WAD is important because it reminds the public and Government that HIV has not gone away. There is still a vital need to create awareness, fight prejudice and improve education. Looking back into history, WAD was the first ever global health day held for the first time in 1988.

While sharing his thoughts with the participants, Hon’ble HFM appealed to the participants: “Let us shun any kind of discrimination in our thoughts, actions and behaviour in our interaction with those who have HIV and AIDS. Let us not bracket people who suffer from and have survived various diseases”. Hon’ble HFM appreciated the partner communities for their singular contribution to the AIDS cause in spreading information about the disease, to dispel misinformation, fear and apprehensions, and helped people to access testing and treating services of NACO. He also reminded all that although we have travelled a long distance in our fight against AIDS and HIV, there are still some significant milestones that need to be achieved for making the country free of HIV/AIDS by 2030 such as the lingering pockets of stigma and discrimination against those who have or have had AIDS”, he added.

Hon’ble HFM also awarded various representatives of Red Ribbon Clubs which have mobilised the youth and communities across the country. More than 1200 Red Ribbon Clubs have contributed to this collective effort.

The event also saw launch of the NACO Mobile Application, new IEC Material for TI NGOs, NACO Calendar-2020, Comprehensive Module for Private Practitioners on Management of HIV/AIDS, 2019 by Dr. Harsh Vardhan. Two PLHIV members shared their experience of having survived the disease and the support they have received from NACO, and other support organizations for overcoming the stigma.

Observance of National Voluntary Blood Donation Day

Reaching 100% Voluntary Blood Donation by promoting the theme: At least Donate Once In A Life Time

Voluntary, non remunerated blood donors are the best assurance to an apprehensive blood recipient that blood given to him is safe and of high quality. In 2018-19, the country collected around 12.4 million blood units, contributing to nearly 2/3rd of the collection of blood in the South East Asia region. However, India must step up its blood donations by atleast 2 million more to become self sufficient to meet its own demand for blood and blood components. National Voluntary Blood Donation Day is observed to commemorate the birthdate of Late Dr. J. G. Jolly from Chandigarh who was a pioneer in the field of modern Transfusion Medicine in India.

To raise awareness regarding this demand, National Voluntary Blood Donation Day was celebrated in august presence of Hon'ble HFM, Dr. Harsh Vardhan and MoS, Sh. Ashwini Kumar Choubeyon 1st October, 2019 at Nirman Bhawan, New Delhi. Hon'ble HFM inaugurated the Blood Donation Camp and appealed the participants to at least donate once in a year. Shri Sanjeeva Kumar, Special Secretary & Director General, NACO & NTEP, Shri Alok Saxena, Joint Secretary, NACO and other senior officials from NACO, MoHFW and Delhi SACS were also present in the event.

While interacting with youth of several colleges, NSS, Red Ribbon Clubs and other educational institutes from all over Delhi, Hon'ble HFM also shared the benefits of donating blood at regular intervals. He emphasized on the importance of voluntary blood donations in order to ensure a reliable supply of safe blood for patients whose lives depend on it.

Unnao Epidemiological Investigation – Key Findings

The National AIDS Control Organisation in collaboration with Uttar Pradesh State AIDS Control Society initiated an epidemiological investigation through Indian Council of Medical Research, Delhi & National AIDS Research Institute, Pune to understand the reasons behind sudden increase in HIV cases in Unnao district that was reported in the media in 2017-2018.

The epidemiological investigation was conducted to identify the factors associated with occurrence of HIV. Thirty-three cases and 125 controls were enrolled. Individual cases were detected HIV positive during November 2017-April 2018 from three locations namely Premganj, Karimuddinpur and Chakmeerapurin the Bangarmau block of Unnao. Controls hailed from the same geographical locations and tested HIV negative either in health camps or at ICTC centers from where the cases were detected. Study participants were interviewed on various risk practices and invasive treatment procedures. They were also tested for HIV and other bio-markers reflecting unsafe injecting and sexual exposures such as HBsAg, anti-HCV antibody (HCV Ab), HCV RNA, HSV-2 IgG and RPR.

A summary of the conclusions from the investigation is as follows:

1. 'Experiencing unsafe injecting practice' was strikingly high among People living with HIV (PLHIV).
2. High presence of HCV Ab among HIV sero-reactive individuals.
3. Low and similar HSV-2 sero-reactivity among cases as well as controls helped rule out unsex being an explanatory variable for the observed occurrence of HIV and HCV infection as well.
4. Use of HCV and HSV-2 antibody as surrogate markers of unsafe injections and unsafe sex respectively helped in treading the path of critical analysis.
5. Phylogenetic analysis of HIV samples collected from cases in Unnao showed that they were monophyletic and had a common ancestor.

Based on the findings, the following future directions are recommended:

1. Identification of a pocket of unsafe injecting in care settings.
2. Immediate interventions need to be launched in the study area to reduce the potential transmission of micro-organisms such as HIV, HCV and Hepatitis B through parenteral route.
3. Increased demand of future community based studies.
4. Identifying factors associated with poor adherence to anti-retroviral therapy in some of the PLHIV.
5. Operationalising Hepatitis C treatment for those who have been identified with HCV-RNA.
6. Actively engaging the community in all such endeavors.
